Canine Adoption and Medical Care Agreement

This agreement is by and between The Canine Compassion Fund, Inc. (CCF) and the undersigned adopter regarding the adoption of the canine described herein. Adopter agrees that all future expenses, including vet care/medical expense, are adopter's responsibility. The canine has received vaccinations and other procedures or medical care as described in the attached Medical Record. The adopter understands and agrees that CCF cannot and does not guarantee the health or temperament of this animal.

CCF requires that canines adopted from us be housed indoors in your home, unless other arrangements are approved in advance. CCF reserves the right to make scheduled post-adoption home visits and/or follow up calls to check on the welfare of the canine to ensure that the terms of the contract are being met. If, for any reason you choose not to keep the canine, you must notify CCF immediately. Adopter agrees not to transfer ownership of the canine for any reason without prior approval from CCF. If you are in violation of any of the terms of this legally binding contract, CCF reserves the right to repossess the canine with no refund of the adoption fee.

I fully understand that all expenses incurred henceforth are my full responsibility, and I agree to provide this canine the best possible care including, but not limited to: annual check-ups, annual vaccinations, monthly flea, tick and heartworm preventative and adhere to all the terms of the contract contained herein. I also agree to keep microchip information current. If I supply false information on this contract, I understand that the canine will be repossessed with no refund of the adoption fee or expenses paid while I own the canine. Furthermore, I agree to be held financially responsible for any fees and/or court costs incurred by CCF during repossession. This is a legally binding agreement.
